

ASSIGNMENT of ENG102

Response paper Writing.

Aklhak Hossain

Department of Computer Science & Engineering

2022-3-60-057

Section: 34

ENG102

Composition and Communication Skills

East West University

<https://ahjim.com>

Exploring the Layers of Reality: An Analysis of "Inception"

Inception, a mind-bending science fiction film directed by Christopher Nolan and released in 2010, explores the realms of dreams and reality. It also shows how human connections in dreams can shape a person's dreams, reality, and life.

In the movie Inception, the word "inception" is used to describe a technology that allows people to enter the dreams of others and manipulate their thoughts and actions. At the beginning of the movie, the technology is used by the main character Dom Cobb to steal information, and throughout the movie, they explore different ways to use the technology to manipulate a person's mind over some big issues. It also shows the main character's relationship with his wife and how she died because of not being able to differentiate reality from the dream and jumping from a building. And how much that affects the dreams, and thoughts of the main character. The best dialogue from the movie is: "You're waiting for a train. A train that will take you far away. You know where you hope this train will take you, but you can't know for sure. Yet it doesn't matter . . . Because you'll always be together."

The movie makes a lot of sense to me because of its concept of dream and reality. The dream is how we process our emotions as well as unresolved emotions. Throughout the movie, it shows how we can live happily by reliving our happy memories and manipulating to be with the person we love. But it also shows how much power a person's dream holds and how dangerous it can be to mix up reality with dreams. It also shows one of the biggest and most basic nature of human nature to live a life with the person we love. Also how the perception becomes reality and nobody can escape it. The open-ended conclusion of the movie raised questions for viewers about their understanding of the events and the theme shown in the movie.

In conclusion, Inception is one of the best movies I have ever seen. It is a visually striking and intellectually stimulating movie that challenges conventional storytelling norms. It left a huge impact on my capability of thinking about dreams, human connections, and emotions a person poses.